FOREWORD

*I*T is our desire that this Annual may be a faithful and effective representation of the life of our school. We hope that its leaves will breathe forth something of the atmosphere that pervades Murray State Teachers College. In later years, when we look through its pages, may it recall to us the memories of days spent in school our joys, victories, and happiness

School Song

M. S. T. C. we gather here today,
For thy proud glory ever shall we pray.
Glorious thy past, thy future knows no stain
Ever more for victory.

When on in life the lights about us fail,
In glad remembrance Murray, Thee we'll hail.
Undying love for Thee the joy is ours,
Carry on, carry on, Murray State.

Junior Class

HREE years ago it was "Hello College" for a group of freshmen. One more year and it will be "Hello World". They then chose for their leader Sam Traughber who has held the unique distinction of being president of his class for three consecutive years.

The Junior Class, having seen it develop from a Normal School to a Teachers College, is truly proud of M. S. T. C. We have seen the completion of the auditorium building, the Training School building and the beginning of a men's dormitory and a library building. To be a part of a growing institution should make anyone proud.

There is nothing static at Murray State Teachers College. It is going forward at every move.

The Junior Class has contributed leaders to every student and class activity, giving to the school the captains of the four major athletic teams, the presidents of the two literary societies, the president of the Sock and Buskin Club, and the president of the Chemistry Club. The three laboratory assistants of the Science department came from the Junior Class.

In the Inter-class track meet, the Juniors again showed their superiority by making over half of the possible number of points.

Murray's two All-Mississippi Valley Conference gridmen and one of the two All-Mississippi Valley Conference netmen hail from the Junior Class.

We are proud of our class and of the school and hope to make the school proud of the class of '31.

SPORTS

The Big Four

CARLISLE CUTHCHIN, Coach. Although the athletes get credit for the victories, this quiet, unassuming man is in a great measure responsible for the successes. In order to coach Thorobreds one must be a Thorobred. This can truly be said of Mr. Cutchin. He instills into his athletes the idea of true sportsmanship. To him the results of the games are secondary importance to the development of the morals. In basketball and football together only six games were lost out of 30 for a percentage of .800. This in itself speaks well of any coach.

CAPTAIN "JESS" HAYNES demonstrated real ability on the football field this year. "Crusader" held the team together and brought the season to close with a successful record. "Crusader" Haynes possesses all the qualities necessary to carry a team through a successful season. These qualities are thorough knowledge of football, friendly ways, an open heart, good judgment, and self-confidence. Hence, the secret of the splendid success of the football team of M. S. T. C. is obvious. Haynes will be an invaluable man on the team this next year.

T. R. GRAHAM, basketball captain. "Grand Dashing" led the team to the M. V. C. championship in fine style. T. R. played consistent ball all season, bringing his playing to a climax in the tournament when he pulled the T. P. I. game out of the fire. Graham will be back next year to fight for the Thorobreds.

JIM MILLER, all M. V. C. shortstop for 1929, was justly chosen captain for the present season. Jim led the battling of the Thorobreds in 1929 and is continuing the good work with the stick. Although changed from shortstop to second base this year, he is showing his versatility by covering the key-stone bag in big league fashion. Besides being outstanding at the bat and in the field, he has unusual ability in directing the playing of the team.

Football Summary

WITH the return of ten lettermen another football championship looked probable. Gaining the long end of a 13-12 victory over Carbondale on October 11, prospects looked still rosier as Carbondale boasted of one of the strongest teams in Southern Illinois.

A perfect offense and defense functioned to give the Thorobreds a 46-0 victory over Richmond on the home field October 19.

Then the jinx. Injuries and illness took their toll as the key men were forced from the lineup, with the result that the Missouri men from Cape Girardeau took the Murraymen's measure 13-0 on a foreign field.

On the home field, Middle Tennessee Teachers trampled the Thorobreds 6-0.

On the next trip November 8, the legal talent of Cumberland Law School of Lebanon, Tenn., eloquently defended their cause and handed the Murraymen a 26-13 beating with Murray's best on the bench.

Jonesboro College of Jonesboro, Ark., was unable to play on the scheduled date, November 15, with the Murraymen taking advantage of the forfeit.

On November 18, the Eagles of Lambuth College, Jackson, Tenn., met the Thorobred warriors on a neutral field at Mayfield, Ky. After an auspicious start, the racers found their pace to win 13-6.

In the next contest, November 23, Murray's formidable rivals, West Tennessee defeated a broken Murray lineup 26-13 on Murray's field.

U. T. Juniors of Martin, Tenn., fell victims to the disabled Murraymen 13-6 Thanksgiving day at Martin.

In the regular schedule of 11 games the Thorobreds took only five contests.

With the return of 15 lettermen and additional players, Murray expects a successful season in '31.

FOOTBALL LETTERMEN

Who's Who on The Thorobred Team

JAMES BOWMAN, "Flying Ebony", tackle whose football ability caused the gridiron critics to place him on the all M. V. C. team for 1929. His specialty was nailing his opponent behind the line of scrimmage.

PAT BREWER, "Broadway Jones", halfback and guard. His ability to play different positions made him valuable to the team as a utility man. His presence will prove a great contribution to the team next year.

HARLAN BRODIE, "Black Gold", halfback and captain-elect for season of 1930. Brodie hardly gained his usual prominence on account of injuries; nevertheless in the Lambuth game he flashed his old time form to lead the Thorobreds to victory.

HAROLD BYRD, "Behave Yourself", halfback. His offensive work was slightly erratic, but this deficiency was soon forgotten when his opponents got possession of the ball.

HENRY EVANS, "Personality Kid", utility backfield man. This little red-headed bundle of dynamite carried his winning ways on the gridiron. "Red" was equal to all occasions and was always ready to go.

BILLIE JACK FOX, "Reigh Count", tackle. When added strength was needed Billie Jack always had the desired quantity. His size and strength made him an outstanding defensive player.

T. B. GIDEON, "Call Boy", a fighting little guard who took great pleasure in tumbling the big fellows. Gideon is due to be a mainstay on the team next year.

JAMES HEATH, "Bubbling Over", right tackle and fullback. His fighting qualities and determination made him a great asset to the team. James should be an outstanding man next year.

JAMES KENNEY, "Zev", guard. His quick and powerful drives made him a great defensive and offensive man. These qualities together with his consistency made him one of the outstanding men on the team.

JAMES MILLER, "Chance Play", a speed demon and a wizard on pass receiving. Very little yardage was made around Jim's end during the season. We expect him to do big things in the S. I. A. A. next year.

PAUL PERDUE, "Rolled Stockings", guard. A little man with big ambitions. His skill and tenacity made him a problem for all opponents.

BUDDY SCHUH, "Display", a speedy halfback whose ability as a ball carrier made him stand out. An injured shoulder kept him dormant a while, but his elusiveness returned near the end of the season.

Thorobreds

EDWARD SLEDD, "Whiskery", reserve end. His speed and defensive ability were constant threats to his opponents. His offensive work in the Cumberland game made him a marked man. He is expected to equal the performances of his famous brother next year.

T. SLEDD, "Man-O-War", quarterback and dominating force of the team. He always had the ability to run the play that would get the desired yardage. T. has had a colorful career with the Thorobreds, and we all regretted to see him go (and get married).

HARRY SMITH, "Boot-to-Boot", a pivot man with unusual ability. He was an accurate passer and was dependable for taking care of the center of the line. He demonstrated his ability in the Cumberland game.

RUBE THURSTEN, "Bagen Baggage", guard. A glance at Rube, and the opposing lineman was demoralized for what he saw was a giant with great endurance. Rube made the best of his possibilities, and showed up well on both offensive and defensive in every game.

SAM TRAUGHBER, "Pompey", a perfect center. On account of the compactness of his hundred and sixty-five pounds, Sam was able to slip through the opposing line and throw the runner for great losses. This together with his constant passing made him indispensable to the team.

PHILLIP WAGGONER, "Papyrus", tackle. Phillip is an old timer at the game, and when it seemed that the rest of the team would become inebriated, he would be there as calm and collected as the coach himself. This soothing effect was of real value to the team.

WALTER WELLS, "Exterminator", fullback. One of the hardest plungers of the game. "Bull" revels in carrying two or three men on his back for several yards. An injured knee kept him out for some time, but he left his marks in the games he played.

WILLIAM MAHEW, "Clyde Van Dusen", end. One of these "do or die" fellows and he is still full of life. Besides being a wonderful defensive man, he was capable of carrying the ball as was shown by his 90-yard dash against Memphis.

HAL HOUSTON, "Burden Bearer", manager. Efficiency personified always at the service of the coach and team. His managerial and athletic ability made him quite an outstanding asset to the team.

Basketball Summary

Despite the fact that graduation took four valuable players from the Thorobred ranks, the season opened with prospects looking good and Coach Cutchin smiling a little. Six former lettermen reported at the opening practice. They were: Captain Graham, forward; Miller, forward; Munger, center; Houston, guard; Smith, forward; and Brookshire, guard. New material came in the person of Bagwell of high school fame, Mahew and Harris, lettermen from other colleges, Deweese and McElya.

As the season progressed, Coach Cutchin's smile became bigger and better, until the 36-31 victory over West Tennessee Teachers won the Mississippi Valley Conference championship and put the finishing touches to a perfect performance.

With a total of 853 points to their opponents' 488 and only two losses during the entire season, the Thorobreds indeed made a record of which they may be justly proud.

Although in the season just closed the Thorobreds bid farewell to the Mississippi Valley Conference, the opponents they meet in their encounters in the S. I. A. A., which they enter on probation next year, will be no more worthy than their foes in the past. The Thorobreds lose only three players through graduation—Houston, Munger, and Brookshire.

M. S. T. C. BASKETBALL TEAM

HENRY O'DANIEL, Manager. In O'Daniel we had a capable and energetic manager. "Always on the dot" was his watchword.

JOE MUNGER, Center. "Gripy Joe" appeared slow, but he was back on defense in plenty of time. On the offense, what he lacked in speed was made up in his uncanny eye for the basket. Joe is a senior and will be greatly missed next year.

JAMES BROOKSHIRE, Guard. "Jimmie" played forward for M. S. T. C. in 1926 and in 1927. Coach Cutchin needed a guard and in Brookshire he found an excellent man. Jimmie was cool under fire and was a great defensive player. He started many plays with his ability to use the hook pass. He is a senior. His loss will be felt next year.

WILLIAM MAHEW, Guard, Captain-Elect. "Peg" came to us from Southeast Missouri Teachers College with a very high reputation. He certainly lived up to that reputation. His being elected to captain of the team next year is proof of that fact. "Peg" was a wizard at driving plays and is a tricky passer. We feel certain that he will lead the team to the S. I. A. A. championship next year.

JIM MILLER, Forward. "Lum" was perhaps the most valuable man on the team. He has the old fighting spirit. Jim was rewarded for his fine playing by being chosen on the mythical M. V. C. team. He led the team in scoring. Jim has one more year to wear the Blue and Gold.

WILLIAM SMITH, Forward. "Bill" was the speed demon of the team. For intercepting passes Bill could not be beaten. He is an excellent crisp shot. Bill will make a very valuable man for the team next year as he is only a sophomore. He should make basketball history for M. S. T. C. the next two years.

HOWARD HARRIS, Center. "Hobby" came to us from Western Teachers College and soon won the reputation of a great basketball player. He has an uncanny ability to pass under the arms of his opponents when under the goal. He is also an excellent floor man. "Hobby" is a sophomore and has two more years to shine for M. S. T. C.

WILLARD BAGWELL, Forward. The freshman wizard from Heath high school in his first year of college ball won a place in the hearts of Murray fans. His ability to tip the ball in from under the basket made him feared by all opponents. Bagwell followed Miller in scoring. Bagwell will make history in the next three years, and you S. I. A. A. teams watch out!

T. R. GRAHAM, Forward, Captain. "Grand Dashing" led the team to the M. V. C. championship in fine style. T. R. played consistent ball all season, bringing his playing to a climax in the tournament when he pulled the T. P. I. game out of the fire. Graham will be back next year to fight for the Thorobreds.

HAL HOUSTON, Guard. "Bean" played great ball in every game. He is a smart and dependable guard. He is an excellent floor man and led the guards in scoring at the same time holding his opponents to the minimum score. This is his last year for M. S. T. C. His place will be hard to fill next year.

The Forecast of the Season

ALTHOUGH handicapped by the loss of several star performers of the "National Pastime" by the ineligible route and a shortage of pitching material, the prospects for 1930 look unusually bright and indicate that Coach Cutchin and his Thorobreds will have another successful season on the diamond. Jim Miller, veteran shortstop, has been elected captain of the 1930 team. He will probably be moved to second base this year, leaving his old position to be filled by James Brookshire, a newcomer on the diamond.

Whether or not the season will be a phenomenal success in victorious results on the diamond depends largely upon "Hard Luck" Jess Haynes shaking off the "jinx" that followed him last season when he pitched several three and four hit games, only to be chalked up with defeats. Another newcomer who is expected to "push 'em up" greatly is Buddy Schuh. Early workouts indicate he will either roam around the center garden or hold down the "hot corner". The lettermen back from last season from which Coach Cutchin will mold his team are Jim Miller, Jess Haynes, Stum Wells, Glen Jeffrey, Walter Wells and "Baby" Deweese. Besides the men enumerated above, there is a wealth of new material which is expected to bolster up the team and fill the vacancies left by the departure of some of last season's stellar performers. Among the most promising are H. Brodie, Z. Wells, E. McGary, E. Sledd, W. Cruse, and N. Smith. The freshmen have a full schedule this year and from the way they have started the season they will develop into real Thorobreds in 1931.

The following is the schedule for 1930:

April 11-12, Bethel, McKenzie, Tenn., at Murray.
 April 17, Southeast Missouri Teachers, at Cape Girardeau, Mo.
 April 25-26, Univ. of Tenn., Martin, at Murray.
 April 30-May 1, Middle Tenn., at Murfreesboro, Tenn.
 May 2-3, Tenn. Polytechnic Institute, Cookeville, Tenn.
 May 9-10, Lambuth, Jackson, Tenn., at Murray.
 May 13-14, Tenn. Polytechnic Institute, at Murray.
 May 6-7, Univ. of Tenn. Juniors, Martin, Tenn.
 May 20, Cape Girardeau, at Murray.
 May 23-24, Bethel, Tenn., McKenzie.

M. S. T. C. BASEBALL TEAM

Co-ed Basketball

HE basketball season of the Lady Thorobreds opened under rather unfavorable conditions. Only two letterwomen were back. Under a recent law made by the Mississippi Valley Conference it was compulsory for all women's teams in this conference to play three-division-court women's rules. Last year modified women's rules were played with the three-division court and the center running the entire floor.

Our first game on the Murray floor was with Bethel College, McKenzie, Tenn. We lost by five points, but the game showed the Murray fans that although we could not have a champion team for the season, we had a squad of which the school need not be ashamed. The next two games were also played on the Murray floor. Through the efforts of the coach, Miss Mary Louise Harkless, and the consistent practice of the team, the Lady Thorobreds tied their game with Lambuth College, and won a victory over the six from Logan College, Russellville, Ky.

The first road trip was made to Bowling Green where our women received the little end of the score in the game with Western. Returning from Bowling Green, the Murray co-eds won a second victory over the Logan College players. The fifth game was scheduled with Lambuth on the Jackson floor where the Murray women received their second defeat. The last home game was with Western on the home floor and proved to be the most exciting game of the season. After trailing Murray co-ed cagers until the last quarter of the game, Western won the game by one point.

The winners of the Mississippi Valley Conference title in 1929 lost the championship when they were defeated by a small score in the first round of the 1930 Conference tournament at Memphis, by the co-eds of Freed-Hardeman College, Henderson, Tenn. The conference championship was won by the cagers of Delta State Teachers College.

Who's Who

MARY LOUISE HARKLESS, Coach. No one knew but the members of the team how much effort Miss Harkless put forth to make a team of which we are proud. This is her first year at Murray but it did not take long for those who became acquainted with her to love her.

GEORGIE RAGLAND, Captain, Guard, and leader of the Lady Thorobreds of Murray State Teachers College. Georgie was an aggressive guard who displayed extraordinary talent in the fine art of defense. She usually came out first in the battle of wits in the danger zone.

ONEITA WELDON, Manager. No one was more loyal to the team, nor as hard a worker as Oneita. Playing no little part in the success of the team. She took many of the cares, worries, and responsibilities from the shoulders of the coach.

MARGERINE BIVINS, Guard. Bivins was ready at any moment to go in and face the opposition. She was a player who played mentally as well as physically for the best of the Murray team. Her value to the squad grew as the season progressed.

VIOLA BEATTY, Side-center. "Pokey"—slow but sure. A dependable side-center whose greatest asset lay in her ability to intercept and catch any kind of a pass. She is an experienced player who uses her knowledge for the benefit of the team. She is not tall enough to play center but she plays the position of side-center to perfection.

MARGARET FOY. A good center who knew no opposition. Margaret was one of the hardest workers on the team; it was seldom that anyone could surpass her swift and accurate playing. Margaret was elected alternate captain for the coming season.

LUCILLE THROGMORTON, Forward and Captain Elect for '31. The fact that "Lou" was selected for the future captain of the Lady Thorobreds speaks for her playing. When she sent the ball toward the goal it was seldom that it did not slip gracefully through the basket. M. S. T. C. has a valued player in Lucille.

GRACE PERDUE, Center. This was Grace's first try for the varsity and much credit is due her for making the team. There was never a moment when "Gracie" was not putting forth her best to help bring M. S. T. C. to victory. Whether on or off the floor her one interest was to see Murray get in the game.

MARY SHUPE, Forward. She was the reserve offensive strength of the team and her spirit of willingness to serve the team at any time served as an example to the others on the squad to follow. Mary was always ready to do and give her best toward winning the game.

OZANE FLOWERS, Guard. She has a fighting spirit and the determination to win, and never seemed to tire on the floor. Ozane is an excellent defensive player and can always be depended on to give great resistance to the opposition. She played a strong and consistent brand of basketball throughout the season.

DOROTHY WYMAN, Side-center. One of the fastest little players that has ever been on the Murray court. Altho small in stature. Dorothy made up for it by managing to be just where her opponents didn't want her to be. A cool headed and indispensable player.

HELEN BALLOW, Forward. A player who could hit the basket from any position on the floor. A steady player, she was, on whom all others could well depend. It was the splendid team work of Ballow and Throgmorton that helped bring victory.

Allenian Review

HERE is no organization in the Murray State Teachers College more vital and influential in developing the proper school spirit than the Allenian Society.

The aims of our society are to further literary attainment, to develop student leaders, to stimulate school spirit, to encourage good sportsmanship, and to strengthen bonds of friendship.

It has always been the pleasure of our society to boast of the fact that on the Allenian roll are written the names of a large number of renowned students. In the "Allenian Hall of Fame" you will find a great number of students who have made themselves famous by showing special ability in the various fields such as athletics, debating, oratory, and music.

After we have received our degrees from M. S. T. C. and have gone out to harvest what destiny holds in store for us, the Allenian ideals and principles will ever tend to lead us toward that coveted goal, "success".

ALLENIAN SOCIETY

Miss Maryleona Bishop

It is with deepest appreciation that we, the members of the Allenian Society, dedicate this space to Miss Maryleona Bishop, who for four years faithfully served us as Sponsor. The progress of our Society has been in great part due to her gentle wisdom, kind words of counsel, and her untiring efforts in our behalf.

It is with dawning realization of what her guidance has meant to us in our Society life, that we make this earnest attempt at expression of our gratitude and appreciation.

Wilsonian Society

HE members of the Wilsonian Literary Society feel that the name Wilsonian with the ideals that it represents is a fitting name of the society. The society is composed of members who are dynamic. The victories which the organization has won are proof of that. The progress made in spite of occasional defeats is a tribute to its fighting courage. It is always the aim of the society to uphold the ideals set forth by Woodrow Wilson.

With the purpose of developing its members in the field of extra-curricular activities, the society has been victorious in intellectual engagements. Its officers are chosen from the standpoint of their ability as leaders and their scholastic attainments. It is a democratic organization. No officer is allowed to succeed himself, and every member is given the opportunity to appear on the society programs.

The sponsors have always been of appreciable inspiration to the society by their counsel and assistance to the officers and cabinet members in all their undertakings. To them the society is greatly indebted.

As a society, the Wilsonians have won the women's inter-society basketball contests for the past four years. Four of the six members of the college debating team are Wilsonians. The editor-in-chief of the College News and the editor of the Shield are Wilsonians. Wilsonian declaimers have won the Richard P. Ernst trophy for declamation for the past three years, and it is now in the permanent possession of the society. Its debaters have won half of the inter-society debates. The men's basketball games went to the Wilsonians this year.

WILSONIAN CLUB

Wilsonian Cabinet

Clay Copeland, debating head for two semesters; John G. Samuels, athletics, both semesters; I. L. Forguson, band, last semester; Georgia Ragland, publicity committee last semester; Dorothy Wyman, publicity committee; Mrs. William Grogan, dramatics this semester; Mrs. Margaret Kelley, music both semesters; Mary Jane Puckett, general activities, last semester; Rob Roy Hicks, president; Forrest C. Pogue, Jr., ex-president; Marion McCarthy, head of publicity; Corinne Lowry, program committee; R. B. Chrisman, Jr., oratory; Byron F. Pennebaker, Wilsonian editor.

The Wilsonian Literary Society has found it necessary to place individuals at the head of each department of work. By this means the responsibility of the society's welfare is placed directly on those who have shown ability as leaders.

Les Camarades Francais

Splendor, beauty, and quaintness are words applied to peculiar sections of foreign countries. France, with its musical language, with its palaces built by the Sun King and those who preceded him, and with the wonder of its cathedrals and museums is a source of speculation to all college students.

To those are penetrating for the first time the mysteries of an unknown language, Les Camarades Francais, French Club of Murray State Teachers College, offers an opportunity to hear discussed the strange ideas, thoughts, and customs of the people who speak the French tongue.

Miss Maryleona Bishop, sponsor of the club when it was organized in 1925, is the present adviser. Members of the organization feel that the success of the club has been attained through her efforts.

Les Savants Officers

Les Savants History

"Les Savants" was first planned in 1926 as a part of Les Camarades Francais. However, it did not become active until the spring semester of 1929.

When it was first organized there were less than six members. In order to become a member a student had to make as much as a B-plus in French 103. For the past few years the French Department has grown, offering more courses than formerly, and therefore greater opportunities for students to become members of Les Savants; hence it became advisable to raise its standards, and now in order for a student to become a member, he or she must make a B-plus in French 104.

Les Savants has the unique distinction of being the only honorary scholastic club in M. S. T. C. Each member has a pin, the "fleur de lis", to which a jewel is added each semester a student makes a B-plus or above.

Under the able sponsorship of Miss Maryleona Bishop, the continued growth and success of Les Savants is assured.

Henry Clay Debating Club

THE Henry Clay Debating Club was organized October 2, 1928. Its purpose has ever been to follow the ideas and ideals of one of Kentucky's greatest orators, Henry Clay, for whom it is named.

The oratory of this club and the heated participation in questions of local and national interest have caused the membership of the Henry Clay Debating Club to increase in the five semesters of its existence to the extent that the meetings must be held in the chapel.

Eight members of the varsity debating team, trained by Prof. L. J. Hortin, sponsor of the club, have been produced by the club. The presidents of the club have been taken from the varsity team. In the years 1928-1930 the varsity team won eleven out of eighteen college debates.

To develop the power of logical thinking, to train its members in clear and forceful expression, and to discover and interpret truth—these are the ideals of the Henry Clay Debating Club.

The activities of the club have been carried out with purposeful programs including every member of the club.

During the past year under the capable sponsorship of Miss Lida Muse, many pleasing social activities have been enjoyed.

With the present increase in membership the club anticipates sending a representative to the State Home Economics Association next year.

Christian Association

THE Christian Association is the one organization on the campus of the Murray State Teachers College whose sole purpose is to promote Christian living.

Programs consisting of inspirational addresses, special music, and group singing are held each Sunday evening. All of the activities are initiated and carried out by the students of the college.

The Christian Association is independent of any religious denomination or group.

Christian Association

Under the direction of Miss Susan Pepper, the association was organized in February, 1927. At first only the young women were eligible for membership. In February, 1928, the young men were admitted.

During the past year the outstanding activities have been the sunrise Christmas carol service held before the holidays, and the memorial service held in honor of Billie Jack Fox on March 23, 1930.

Through the untiring efforts of the sponsors, L. J. Hortin, and J. G. Glasgow, and the loyal support of the members, the Christian Association is one of the most valuable organizations on the campus.

Glee Clubs

HERE we have the real life of M. S. T. C. The Women's Glee Club and the Men's Glee Club, directed and championed by Mrs. Italy Grippo Conner. She is ingenious, industrious, and talented. By earnest and sincere efforts she has organized and trained these two glee clubs. Mrs. Conner is always ready to entertain with her glee clubs, at chapel, or at any time when a musical program is desired.

Plans are being made to put the glee clubs on an honorary basis next year. With this kind of organization, she will be able to enroll in the clubs only those who have musical ability and those who are interested in vocal music.

We are sure that these two organizations will continue to grow and develop both in size and quality, and that with their happy songs they will make lighter the academic burdens of every student enrolled in Murray State Teachers College.

Orchestra and Chamber Music Group

WO of the outstanding musical organizations of Murray State Teachers College are the orchestra, directed by Prof. John Burnham, and the Chamber Music Group.

In the two years that he has been in Murray, Prof. Burnham has organized an orchestra whose performance has merited the unstinted praise of all who have heard it. Employing a wide variety of instruments, the orchestra has mastered the technique of group playing and has presented many programs of popular, classical, and sacred numbers for the various occasions that have required its services.

The personnel of the group in Chamber Music is Prof. John Burnham, violin; Miss Mattie Lou Lockwood, violin; Miss Marjorie Davis, cello; Miss Margaret Woolbridge, viola. This group is exceptional, in the high quality of music it has presented. Perfect harmony, accurate interpretation, delicacy of touch, clearness of tone, and sureness of attack—these are a few of the characteristics that have won for the players the highest words of commendation from music critics.

College Dictionary

Hitch-Hiking—College term for hoboing.

Bulletin Board—Place where most college students never look.

Collegiate Inn—Place of refuge for chapel cutters.

Chapel—Place where faculty members go at 9:20. (Object unknown).

Chemistry Lab.—College glue factory. Student producing richest odor receives highest grade.

Drop Cards—A collection of faculty autographs, selling at one dollar each.

Faculty Meetings—Where faculty members plot against the students.

Examinations—(Modern laws of decency forbid the proper definition of this term.)

Schedule Committee—Organization trained and specializing in the act of preparing conflicts.

Kentucky Stompers—Students' popular conception of musical organization.

Library—Place to entertain your friends. (Whispering is allowed.)

Corridors—Best places on the campus to whistle, sing, laugh, or produce various other loud noises. This particular adaptability is due to the peculiarly fine resonance of the walls.

"The Shield"—Publication holding present record for late publication.

Jokes

A and B were talking loudly during a piano recital by a would-be artist.

A.—“If we don’t pipe down, we’re going to get thrown out of here.”

B.—“Wish I could.”

* * * * *

NO HURRY

Mrs. Greer—“Hurry and get shaved, Albert, we’ve missed the first act already.”

Mr. Greer—“Shave?”

Mrs. Greer—“Yes, shave! you look like a gorilla. When did you shave last?”

Mr. Greer—“Last time you said, ‘I’ll be ready in a minute, dear.’”

* * * * *

BANG!

Mrs. Pennebaker—“I’d like to throw something at you.”

Mr. Pennebaker—“Don’t throw your head, it would certainly injure me.”

Mrs. Pennebaker—“Not if it hit you on the head.”

* * * * *

“James, heard the story of the three holes?”

“No! How come?”

“Well, well, well.”

* * * * *

Miss Schroader—“J’ever hear that story about the man from De-troit?”

Agnes (enthusiastically)—No, what is it?

Miss Schroader (Broken hearted)—“Aw, heck! I wanna hear it too.”

* * * * *

X (at band concert)—“See that man up there playing that pump?”

Y—“Yeah. What of it?”

X—“Well, he’s no good.”

Y—“How come?”

X—“I’ve been watching him scoot that thing up and down there for 15 minutes, and he hasn’t found the right place yet. See? He’s still moving it.”

* * * * *

She (at choral recital)—“Wish they’d sing ‘Wynken, Blinken, and Nod.’”

He (sleepily)—Don’t have to. I’m winking, blinking, and nodding already.”

* * * * *

He—“Marry me!”

She—“Marry You? Ha! Ha! Why, you’re a joke.

He—Say, can’t you take a joke?”

* * * * *

The library caught fire and the students caught air.

* * * * *

Student mustaches are like desert flowers. They have their long, toilsome, and patient period of germination and growth, only to flourish a few brief moments and perish in the full glory of their existence.
